About PropertyInfo Corporation

At PropertyInfo Corporation we innovate, integrate and implement technologies to further enhance the real estate transaction process for title agents, real estate professionals, builders, developers, lenders and consumers. As a global provider of online transaction management and e-closing solutions, real estate information services, title/escrow production systems, hosting services, software development and online product distribution via our Web portal, PropertyInfo.com, PropertyInfo provides electronic data and integrated applications needed to increase business efficiency and improve the quality of information used throughout the real estate transaction process.

Instant access to real estate information

PropertyInfo acquires and converts county data so that you can search numerous ways and multiple categories every time you log on to PropertyInfo.com. But that's only the beginning. Target properties with user-defined criteria with our advanced search function within Property Profiles. You can search for properties that were built in a certain year or year range, that have certain types of characteristics, with a particular sale date or date range, sale amount or sale range, in a particular school district, etc.

Easily search public records for specific property information online with Property Profiles. Property Profiles incorporates:

- Property characteristics
- Sales data
- School information
- Neighborhood demographics
- Comparable market analysis
- Marketing lists and labels
- Flood data
- Subdivision information
- Parcel maps
- Taxing jurisdictions
- Nearby businesses
- Aerial and street maps

Become a marketing expert

Make certain your sales and marketing team has the most reliable and accurate information available with Property Profiles. Specifically target property owners for targeted marketing techniques:

- Just Listed and Just Sold property marketing
- New homeowner marketing campaigns
- Property/casualty insurance marketing
- Home improvement and repair services

Quickly and efficiently create targeted lists to meet your needs. Through Property Profiles, you can search and obtain specific property information in multiple formats, or combine searchable attributes to create standardized target-market mailing lists and labels – with only a few clicks of your mouse. With clean, standardized information for every property on record, Property Profiles provides the best data for direct marketing campaigns.

Know your neighborhood

Through Property Profiles, you gain instant access to the world's largest aerial image library. Now your property profiles can include more than content on addresses, property characteristics, sales and loan information, tax information, and sales comparables. Our high-resolution aerial photographs of the property and surrounding area show proximity to commercial developments and other properties. They show how close the property is to parks, lakes, freeways and other natural resources — adding value for your customers and prospects.

Property Profiles is your single source for complete, accurate information. For all your research needs, call (866) 60-TOOLS (86657) or e-mail support@propertyinfo.com.
